DSI News & Events

Are you excited to go away on Spring break?

Yayiii

Nahh

---

GBAM Information Session

The Global Banking and Markets Quantitative Finance and Analytics Team performs baseline and scenario forecasting to project revenues from sales and trading, as well as providing banking services to mid- to large-sized corporations and institutional clients worldwide. This information session is your chance to learn more about the team and the opportunities they have to offer.

Register here

When: March 12th 2019 4:00 - 5:00pm
Where: TBD

---

UPCOMING EVENTS

- Spring Break March 4th - 8th 2019
- GBAM Information Session
- ABD Society Lunch & Learn Series
- HackathonCLT
- WiDS Conference
- Analytics Frontiers Conference
- ATD Hackathon

---

BROWN BAG SESSION

The ABD society enables the conglomeration of knowledge between academia, business, and government. It strives to help develop educational programs that model effective data use and functional business strategies. This allows for members to enable data-driven decision-making as well as acquire exceptional analytics talent and leadership.

Speaker for the month: Austin Hagerty - Sr Manager, Data Science at XPO Logistics
Stratifyd Information Session

Barings Information Session

FOLLOW US:

HackathonCLT

Register here
When: March 22nd - 23rd 2019
Where: Discovery Place Science

Women in Data Science Conference

UNC Charlotte's Data Science Initiative will be hosting our second annual Women in Data Science (WiDS) the afternoon of March 26, 2019. This half-day event will feature several keynote speakers, a panel discussion, and an evening networking/cocktail reception. Networking reception will allow the opportunity for students, academics, corporate professionals and leaders from Charlotte non-profits groups supporting women and diversity to mingle and grow connections into meaningful relationships. This is a free event!

Register here
When: March 26th, 2019 12:30 - 7:00pm
Where: The Ritz Carlton, Charlotte, NC 28202

Analytics Frontiers showcases the industry's top leaders and innovators in data science. As the Southeast's largest conference of its kind, this annual event connects C-level executives, top data scientists, researchers, entrepreneurs, academia, and government leaders together to share ideas, network and advance the region as a leading technology hub. With approximately 500-600 attendees, Analytics Frontiers aims to attract an elite group of professionals who are among the field's top influencers.

Register here

When: March 27th, 2019 7:30 - 5:00pm
Where: The Ritz Carlton, Charlotte, NC 28202

For more information visit dsi.uncc.edu